

adam hamilton

BDS Sc, DCD, FRACDS

Director of the Division of Regenerative and Implant Sciences
Department of Restorative Dentistry and Biomaterials Sciences
Harvard Schools of Dental Medicine

bio

Dr. Adam Hamilton BDS Sc, DCD is the director of the Division of Regenerative Sciences and Implant Dentistry at the Harvard School of Dental Medicine. He completed his general dental education at the University of Western Australia and has a Doctorate in Clinical Dentistry in the specialty of Prosthodontics from the University of Melbourne, Australia. He is a Fellow of the Royal Australasian College of Dental Surgeons and the International Team for Implantology (ITI). He was the recipient of an ITI scholarship through which he completed a Fellowship in Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery at University of Florida's Center for Implant Dentistry. He maintains a clinical practice focusing on prosthodontic and surgical implant treatment at the Harvard Dental Center.

lecture topics

- 01 making the right choice: material selection in restorative implant dentistry
- 02 mastering implant esthetics: guidelines for esthetic diagnosis and treatment planning
- 03 dental photography tips: how to make great clinical photographs
- 04 innovation in virtual implant planning and guided implant surgery
- 05 implant dentistry in the digital age
- 06 new classification and concepts on implant placement loading protocols
- 07 provisional implant restorations: managing soft tissues around dental implants availability full-day, half-day, evening & hands-on agent contact Aaron Mattlage

amattlage@devright.com

(214) 276- 1212

